

Senior Consultant (EU law research and evaluation)

About the organisation

The Centre for Strategy and Evaluation Services (CSES) is a public policy consultancy providing research, evaluation and impact assessment services for the European Commission, European Parliament, international organisations, UK Government, regulators and other public bodies. We cover a wide range of policy areas including: enterprise, industrial policy and inward investment; justice and home affairs; research and innovation; employment and social affairs; education and training; culture; cohesion policy, and regional and local development. CSES has operating companies in the UK and Ireland.

The role

CSES is seeking as Senior Consultant with a track record in research and consulting relating to different areas of EU law. The role involves contributing to the submission of tenders, managing projects, helping design research and evaluation methodologies, undertaking research and analysis, writing reports, client liaison and contributing to the operation of the business. The right candidates will have very good qualitative and quantitative research and analytical skills, knowledge of relevant policy areas and a track record in project management.

Assignments will be interesting and varied. They will involve helping policymakers at all stages of the policy cycle, including needs analysis, feasibility studies, policy design, monitoring, evaluation and impact assessment. Assignments will address contemporary EU policy challenges, such as consumer protection, equality between women and men, fundamental rights, the digital and green transitions, better regulation, public policy reform, and protecting and promoting democratic standards.

Research and evaluation methodologies will feature collection and analysis of quantitative and qualitative data from multiple sources. Analysis typically involves following guidance such as the EU's Better Regulation Guidelines, HM Treasury's Green Book and Magenta Book, and OECD standards on evaluation.

CSES offers the possibility to work from our office in central London or to work from home or to adopt a hybrid working model. Positions are available with our companies in the UK or Ireland. Some travel is required to Brussels and elsewhere, since many studies involve research across Europe. There is regular interaction between colleagues and a monthly team meeting in London.

Roles and responsibilities

- Contribute to consultancy assignments for clients including EU bodies, international organisations, national governments, regulatory, regional and local authorities, sector bodies and others.
- Manage projects under supervision, to client satisfaction and within allocated time and budget.
- Undertake quantitative and qualitative research.
- Produce high-quality written reports.
- Help identify business opportunities and contribute to the submission of tenders.
- Client liaison and collaboration with external partners.

Job requirements

- At least 3 years' relevant experience in public policy research or consulting.
- Degree or post-graduate qualification in an appropriate area.
- Professional background in EU law and EU policy in the justice and home affairs field.
- Experience in contributing to evaluations or impact assessments of policies and programmes, ideally for the European Commission.

- Able to work flexibly and meet tight deadlines.
- Numerate, with at least basic statistical skills, competent knowledge of Excel. Statistical analysis experience/expertise would be considered an advantage.
- Good inter-personal, communication, presentational and client liaison skills.
- Able to draft reports to a high standard with minimal supervision.
- Excellent written and spoken English. Fluency in another EU language would be an advantage.
- Willingness to travel across Europe (e.g. occasional 1-4 day trips for client meetings or fieldwork).

Benefits

- Salary: £45,000 - £60,000
- Discretionary bonus scheme, dependent on individual performance and the firm's profitability
- Pension scheme with employer contribution of 3% (dependent on a personal contribution of 5%)
- 25 days holiday per annum (plus the 8 public holidays)
- Choice of office-based, home-based or hybrid working arrangements
- Excellent and inclusive team culture
- Opportunities for training and learning
- Potential for rapid progression dependent on performance.

How to apply

To apply, please send a letter of introduction and CV by Monday 29 May 2023 to enquiries@cses.co.uk. Early applications would be welcome, as interviews will take place during May/June 2023. The recruitment process includes interviews and a written test. CSES operates an equal opportunities policy.